Lesson Introduction/Overview

Section One: Vocabulary words, definitions, and quotations
An alphabetical list of the ten words in each set of chapters is given at the beginning. The first word and definition in each definition box is the actual word that has been used in the text. The words and quotations from the novel are given in order as they occur in the plot.

Section Two: Fill-in-the-Blank Activity
The sentences in this activity are specific to each set of chapters written for the most part in order as events happen. The activity is meant to aid instruction and understanding of the plot line, as well as provide a check for vocabulary comprehension. This strategy provides an assessment that is more difficult and challenging than simply matching ten words with ten blanks.

Section Three: Complete List of Words: The Great Gatsby
This is an alphabetical listing of all sixty words in the study unit.

Section Four: Multiple Choice Exam
The students will be tested on 25 of the 60 words listed. Students are encouraged to study all 60 words to be ready for the test. The form of the answer may be or may not be as given in the list, as in the Fill-in-the-Blank Activity. The answer may be one of the derivatives of the word.

Section Five: Writing Activity
This activity might be used at the end of the study of The Great Gatsby. It is an AP-style essay prompt based on events in the novel. Encourage your students to use some of the vocabulary words in their essays. This essay assignment can be a forty-minute timed in-class assignment or a take home assignment.

Acknowledgment
The words, definitions, and quotations in the first section are given in order as they appear in the Scribner Classic Authorized Text 1992 version, with notes and a preface by Matthew J. Bruccoli.

Writing Activity

In The Great Gatsby, Fitzgerald has the reader consider people’s dissatisfaction with their lives for a number of possible reasons. Below are two quotes, one from Chapter Six, the second from the end of the novel. In a well-written essay, discuss Fitzgerald’s use of diction and imagery to explain his attitude toward identity and the power of the past.

“The truth was that Jay Gatsby, of West Egg, Long Island, sprang from his Platonic conception of himself. He was a son of God—a phrase which, if it means anything, means just that—and he must be about His Father’s business, the service of a vast, vulgar, and meretricious beauty. So he invented just the sort of Jay Gatsby that a seventeen year old boy would be likely to invent, and to this conception he was faithful to the end” (Chapter 6).

“And as I sat there brooding on the old, unknown world, I thought of Gatsby’s wonder when he first picked out the green light at the end of Daisy’s dock. He had come a long way to this blue lawn, and his dream must have seemed so close that he could hardly fail to grasp it. He did not know that it was already behind him, somewhere back in that vast obscurity beyond the city, where the dark fields of the republic rolled on under the night.

Gatsby believed in the green light, the orgastic future that year by year recedes before us. It eluded us then, but that’s no matter—to-morrow we will run faster, stretch out our arms farther . . . And one fine morning——

So we beat on, boats against the current, borne back ceaselessly into the past” (Chapter 9).
